

Press release

Lumitronix as a partner in the Osram LED network LED Light for you

The LED company Lumitronix is now an official partner of the LED Light for you technology network of OSRAM Opto Semiconductors GmbH, the second largest manufacturer of LED technology worldwide. "As a specialist for the integration of Osram LEDs, we at Lumitronix respond individually to the customer's technical requirements," CEO Christian Hoffmann emphasizes. The Hechingen-based company develops and manufactures LED modules with regard to PCB layout, thermal design, electronics layout, light control and electromechanics. Based on these qualifications, Lumitronix was chosen as the partner for the Osram LED Light for you network. "Because our extensive experience in working with Osram LED components enables us to find a solution that is both economically and technically optimal for the customer," Hoffmann continues.

Since the extensive product range in the field of LED technology is constantly changing, there is hardly any chance of finding one's way around without a capable specialist. Therefore, the idea behind LED Light for you is to connect potential customers with specialized companies in the field of LED lighting solutions.
